PEMBROKE FIRE SWEEP

Flames Started at Noon Sunday
Lick Up $30,000 Worth of Property.

Help Sent From This City and By Hard Work Business Houses Are Saved.

TWELVE HOUSES ARE DESTROYED.

Pembroke was visited by a destructive fire Sunday that for a time threatened the destruction of the entire business section of the town. The flames were discovered at 1 o'clock in the roof of W. W. Eddins' warehouse on the L. & N. Railroad, in the square south of Jackson street. A stiff breeze was blowing and everything was favorable to a general conflagration. The citizens at once set to work with whatever meagre facilities they had for fighting the fire and an appeal for help was sent to Mayor Meacham, of this city, who at once ordered a hose cart and a detail of firemen to Pembroke on a special train. Delay was experienced in finding the railroad officials with authority to act and it was not until 2:45 that the train, consisting of an engine, a flatcar with the hose and cart and a caboose filled with fire-fighters headed by Councilman Geo. F. Randle, of the fire committee, steamed out for the burning town. The run of 10 miles was made in 15 minutes and the firemen arrived in the nick of time. During the 12 hours that the fire had been spreading it had swept the area on both sides of Jackson street, bounded on the west by the railroad and on the east by the Baptist church, and the flames were being held in check at the rear of a dozen stores fronting on the south side of Main street, the principal business square of the town.

The bucket brigade directed by A. O. Dority, J. S. Quarles, H. C. Whitlow, Ernest Jackson, Mose Levy, J. W. Cross and other officials and citizens, had done magnificent work in checking the fire at the alley back of the business houses. Water had to be pumped from cisterns and wells and at the most critical stage of the fire a freight train came in and gave up all of the water in its tender except enough to run to Hopkinsville. This was a godsend when the situation seemed hopeless. In the meantime every resource was being exhausted to get an engine ready in this city and a light wagon was loaded and started by the pike with 500 feet of hose, but the engine was secured just in time and the outfit with 500 feet more hose and other necessary supplies was loaded on a flatcar and sent as above stated. The firemen arrived at an opportune time, but had little to do. The citizens had performed almost a miracle in controlling the fire at the alley, but their water was exhausted and the wind had risen almost to a gale. With plenty of hose, and connections of all sizes, a line was run across the railroad to the pumping station of the Electric Light Co. and the pump started up. The force was not sufficient to throw a stream of

Some of the household effects of the occupants of the residences burned were piled in the streets and there burned by the rapidly spreading flames.

Mrs. E. C. Ramsey, who was critically ill in the residence next to the Baptist church, had to be removed to the church, where she died a few hours later. Her baby one week old was buried Saturday.

FIRE AT DAWSON

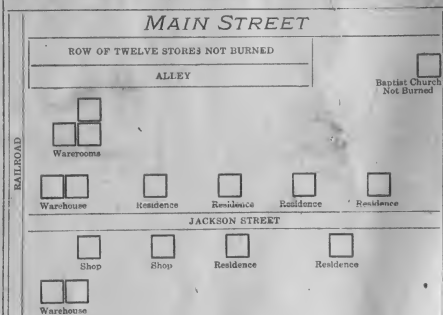

Destroys Five Dwellings and Other Property.

Dawson, Ky., Oct. 26.—Fire in this town this morning destroyed a livery stable, the town hall, a small warehouse and five residences before it was finally checked. The loss was $15,000, with some insurance.

INSURANCE.

As near as can be given at this time, the insurance was as follows: A. O. Dority $3,000, S. H. Dickinson $1,000, Miss Smith $1,500, Forbes Mfg. Co. $1,500, W. W. Eddins $1,000, Mrs. Chastain $400. All of the stores were fully insured.

MAP OF THE BURNED DISTRICT.

water more than a few feet, but it was water and the people breathed easier. The flames were soon under complete control and further danger was averted. Councilmen Randle and Davis both went with the fire company, and Mr. Randle, who was formerly the chief of the department, donned the rubber suit and took personal charge of the men. He says the work done by the bucket brigade was simply marvelous. They carried water in every kind of vessel, and even economized its use by putting it on the fire with dippers. The Hopkinsville company returned on the special train at 8:30.

BLAZE AT BETHEL.

Cook's Quarters Caught But Damages Small.

The roof of the cottage in the rear of Bethel Female College, occupied by the college cook, was discovered on fire about three o'clock Sunday afternoon and an alarm was turned in. The department responded promptly, but a bucket brigade, made up of young ladies at the college, had succeeded in extinguishing the flame before their arrival. The damage amounted to but little.

Forest Fire.

Soldiers in camp near Bennetts-town are reported to have started a forest fire accidentally Sunday and it required the assistance of a number of people returning from church to stop the flames before they reached a tobacco barn. By hard work of soldiers and citizens the fire was put out.

REELFOOT LAKE MEN IN TOILS

The Soldiers Have Arrested Fifty Alleged Night Riders.

SOME PROMINENT MEN.

Martial Law May Be Declared For Military Hangings of Culprits.

Union City, Tenn., Oct. 26.—About fifty alleged night riders have been arrested by the Tennessee State Militia in the Reelfoot Lake section Sunday, making 60 in all. They are some of the best-known men of that district. Many of them are believed to have knowledge that will lead to the culprits who murdered Capt. Rankin and those who were guilty of the assault upon Judge Taylor. In the event that Gov. Patterson declares martial law, it is said several military hangings may take place.

P. C. Ward, the hotel keeper, and Ed Powell, who said he was forced to go with the night riders when Capt. Rankin and Col. Taylor were taken from the Ward Hotel, are among those arrested, also J. F. Carpenter, who wrote the letter that led the victims into the trap. Mr. Carpenter, who is a man 55 or 60 years old, stoutly maintains that he knows nothing of any night riders' plot against Col. Taylor and Capt. Rankin. His friends say he is purely a victim of circumstances.

Additional troops have been ordered to the scene by Gov. Patterson. A house to house investigation is being made to learn who cut the military telephone wire. One of the men under arrest is said to have expressed a willingness to confess and turn State's evidence.

CONFERENCE OVER.

Dr. Jenkins Says It Is the Best He Was Ever In.

The Bible Conference at the Baptist church closed Sunday night with another great crowd and a strong sermon by Dr. J. S. Rodgers, on the subject of the second birth.

Dr. Jenkins is greatly pleased with the results of this the second conference. It was a success in every way and the voluntary contributions were more than enough to pay the expenses. About $2,000 was pledged Friday night for missions. All of the visiting ministers have returned to their homes. Dr. Jenkins will remain here until the end of the year. When he goes to Athens, Ga., he will take Prof. A. I. Ruby with him as an assistant in his mission work.

COMPERS APPEALS TO LABORERS TO SUPPORT DEMOCRATIC TICKET

Washington, Oct. 21.—By an almost unanimous vote the Central Labor Union last night endorsed a letter bearing the signature of Samuel Compers, explanatory of the position taken by labor in the present campaign. The president of the American Federation of Labor declares at length in the document "that labor, in performing a solemn duty in support of a political party, does not become a political party, but a partisan to a principle."

Hardly before the secretary had time to finish reading the letter, many of the delegates were on their feet, asking that the union go on record as favoring Compers' attitude. If there were any who held an opposite view they were silent, and the majority of the delegates rose and shouted "Aye" when the question was put to a vote.

MR. COMPERS' LETTER.

In part the letter is as follows: You are believers in the form of government described by the immortal Lincoln as a government of the people, for the people and by the people. You would not be true Americans if you were not. This form of government is a government by law and is the direct opposite of the despotic form, which is government by discretion. Government by discretion is government by lawlessness; in other words, despotic. You would not willingly assist in destroying our present form of government in the United States, and I therefore, assume that you would have the issue in this campaign stated plainly and simply in order that you may do your duty.

Despotic power under the ermine is as dangerous as despotic power under the crown. To stay its progress some remedy must be had, and we therefore appealed to the Republican Convention at Chicago and were given the same answer. In still more insulting language, if that were possible. We asked for bread and they showed us a whip, and, in order to be certain that the whip will be effectively used, the Republican party nominated as its standard-bearer Mr. William H. Taft, the originator and specific champion of discretionary government; that is government by injunction. In passing I may say that his nomination, under the circumstances, was logical. It would have been impossible for the party to find a more effective representative of its policy.

THE DEMOCRAT PLEDGE.

Labor's representatives then went to the Democratic party. That party made labor's contention its own. It pledged its candidates for every office to those remedies which labor had already submitted to Congress. The standard bearer of the Democratic party, Mr. William J. Bryan, entered fully into the essence of this struggle and declared that the real issue in the campaign is "Shall the people rule?"

The Republican party and its candidate stand for upholding and further extending into our country a despotic government vested in the judiciary. The Democratic party and its candidate stand for government by law vested in the people.

As workers and citizens we must use it to protect and extend equality of all men before the law and obtain individual liberty for all men. Fellow-workers, labor calls upon you to be true to yourselves and to each other, to stand faithfully by our friends and enemies, oppose and defeat our enemies, whether they be candidate for President, Congress or other offices, executive, legislative or judicial.

needs thirty-one of the doubtful votes and Bryan fifty-eight. If Taft carries New York he will have enough and eight to spare. Should he lose New York it would still be possible for him to win, but to do so he must carry Ohio. If New York goes for Taft and Bryan carries all the remainder of the doubtful states the Democratic candidate will still be nine votes short.

Of the seven doubtful states it is my opinion that New York is well nigh safe for Taft; that Taft's chances are better than Bryan's in West Virginia and Wyoming; that Bryan has the lead in Ohio, Colorado and Montana, and that Nebraska is trembling in the balance.

OFFICIAL NOTICE

To Storage Warehousemen and Prizers For Planters' Association.

Notice is hereby given to all who desire contracts to conduct storage or prizing houses to make application for same, by or before the time of the next meeting of the county committee, which is Nov. 2.

Please make application in writing and send to Secretary M. B. King or to the undersigned.

I wish to take this opportunity of saying a few words in regard to the clause which will be in the prizers' contract, viz: that no prizing house shall be allowed to receive tobacco on the stalk. The object of this clause is obvious, that is to induce the farmer to prepare his tobacco at home for the prizer. And the reason for it is clear to every thinking man, viz: that it is believed the farmer can and will classify and prepare his tobacco at home better than the prizing man can, crowded and overrun as he becomes with tobacco on the stalk. I believe also the farmer will be more careful as to the order of his tobacco.

Plainly then the motive of the board of directors is entirely honest and directed to the good of those whom they represent.

It has been intimated that some prizers may attempt to get around this clause by having as a side issue a stripping house, in another name it may be, or he will allow his farmer friends to bring their tobacco to his stripping house and do their own stripping, etc.

I wish right here and now to give notice to all prizers and storage men that any such subterfuge, or indeed any instrumentality on their part to defeat, not the letter of this clause, but its obvious purpose, shall be taken as sufficient evidence by me that they are not entitled to a contract for another year, and I shall use my utmost endeavor to prevent them from getting one, and I am convinced the entire county committee is of the same opinion.

Weasels Attacked Cow. Haymakers on the farm of H. A. Sell, near Hanover, Pa., noticed a cow in a near-by meadow strangely jumping about and bellowing loudly. The increase in the price of paper has been a factor in forcing another one of our magazines to go up in price.

The Woman's Home Companion, preparing to give its readers a bigger and better magazine, will raise its price from 10 cents to 15 cents a copy, and from $1.00 to $1.50 a year in a few weeks.

COLOR LINE

Cannot Be Drawn in Ohio Schools.

Columbus, O., Oct. 22.—In an important opinion rendered yesterday, Attorney General Wade H. Ellis holds that the maintenance of separate schools for colored pupils is illegal and brings out that such a violation exists in Huron county. The opinion was given to the prosecuting attorney of that county and advises him that the maintenance of a separate school for colored pupils by a board of education in that county and the denial to colored children of equal rights in a graded school established for white children are unlawful acts by the board, and, if continued, ought to be stopped by proceedings of local courts on the part of any of the interested persons who are injured.

CURE BY CUTICURA AT CITY MISSION

Young Woman Found In Awful Condition with Scabies—Body a Mass of Sores from Scratching—Tried Many Remedies for Seven Weeks—Result Was Discouraging, But

ITCHING TORTURES YIELDED TO CUTICURA

"While I was doing missionary work in the lower portion of several cities I found it necessary to know a little of the efficacy of a few medicines and after a while I found that a little knowledge of Cuticura was about all I needed. One of the very bad cases I had to deal with was that of a young woman who had come to me not only broken in spirit but in a most awful condition physically. Our doctor examined her and told us that she had scabies (the itch), impetigo, parosis, humectum, etc., brought on from exposure and the effects of her ragged-edged life. Her poor body was a mass of sores from scratching and she was not able to retain solid food. We tried many things, a good tonic was prescribed and baths with a rubbing of lard and sulphur. We worked hard for seven weeks and can imagine how discouraged we were when, after all that time, we could see so little improvement. One day I happened to see a Cuticura advertisement telling how a little baby had been cured of a bad case of skin eruption, and although I had been using seven weeks with me, I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent. When I reached home I was like a child with a new toy, and we bathed our patient well and gave her a full dose of the Resolvent. She slept that night better than she had in a long time and the next day I located the price of a box of Cuticura Ointment. I am now generating when I say that in exactly five weeks the young woman was cured of her position, being strong enough to work and full of ambition. In another month she left the house and now has a good position in a nice family where she is respected and is strong and well. You may refer any one you wish to me, personally. BABY'S ITCH EASILY CURED

Infantile Eczema Quickly Believed by External Use of Wintergreen Compound.

Infantile eczema, which has baffled the skill of the best physicians for so many years, at last seems to be curable with great ease.

Results of the last two years indicate conclusively that baby's itch, infantile eczema and other skin diseases of children can be very simply cured by the application of a compound composed of oil of wintergreen, thymol and glycerine, as in B. B. B. Prescription.

The Rev. Lewis Steeley, of Westbury, Pa., writes:

"Our baby boy's little face was so dreadfully covered with eczema that blood and water ran from the sores nearly all the time. After using 3½ bottles of D. D. D. Prescription we are so happy to tell you he is entirely cured and the disease has never broken out again. If this letter is in any way a help to other sufferers, you may publish it."

If you have a child which is suffering with this terrible itch, we are sure you will not neglect one hour to give your baby the right kind of relief. We have seen too often how quickly the remedy mentioned above takes the itch away at once and how all the cures seem to be permanent; we have seen this too often to hesitate at all in recommending the remedy for your children.

GEN. HARDIN'S STRONG SPEECH

The Old Democratic Leader
Was Greeted By a Big Crowd.

AS ELOQUENT AS EVER.

Gave Many Strong Reasons
Why the Democrats
Should Win.

Hon. P. Wat Hardin spoke at the court house Saturday to a full house, many ladies turning out to hear the old Democratic warhorse.

He was introduced by Judge J. T. Hambery and began by saying that it gave him special pleasure to again address a Christian county audience. He stated he was not going to say one word that would offend any Republican. He then told the story of Pharoah and the famine, and how Pharoah took tribute from the starving people of all they had, and then after the famine had subsided he demanded of them one-fifth of their products.

"You are paying more than one-fifth of your product," said he, "to the trusts of this country."

He gave a graphic story of what led up to the revolutionary war, and said that brought liberty to the American people, and that the Democratic party had always been the exponents of freedom and liberty and still stands there today.

He then spoke of the civil war and said as soon as the war was over the Republicans began to devise means by which they could skin the people; that they inaugurated the protective tariff which, up to that time, had been a tariff for revenue only; that the Republicans made the protective law for the benefit of a favored few.

He then showed how the Republicans pulled the wool over the farmers' eyes by putting a tariff on wheat and he asked the farmer how the tariff could protect him, when there was no country raising wheat enough to come in competition with the American farmer, and that America was feeling the starving millions of the foreign countries. Yet said he, "Taft is going about the country telling the farmers that the Republican party was protecting them with the tariff." "Why," said the speaker, "it is an insult to the intelligence of our American farmers."

Then he said "they have a tariff on cotton to protect the cotton raiser of this country and yet we raise four times as much cotton as all the rest of the world, and clothe most of the foreign countries, yet Mr. Taft tells you that the Republicans are your friends and you ought to support them when they are helping a pampered few take from you more than one-fifth of your products."

The people will not stand this, they are coming back to free government. They prate about building up a home market when they take the same article abroad and sell it from 20 to 40 per cent. cheaper than they do at home. Is it right for the government to pretend to be protecting labor and are actually robbing them of more than Pharoah did the people of old? It seems that the American people would raise up in their might and assert their rights.

The Republicans have the laborer fooled worse than they have the farmer fooled. They tell them the tariff protects them. Examine the tariff and see if you can find a line in it that provides for the laborer to get part of the profits.

Continuing the speaker said: "All the laborer has to sell is muscle and brain and you cannot find a clause in the tariff that puts a tariff on foreign muscle and brains. Does not every manufacturer get labor as cheap as possible? Then they tell they protect you. No, the tariff does not protect you, but the man you work for. I want to expose the assertion that the tariff protects the laboring class. Do you know what the Republicans do? They open the market for muscle and brains and close them on what you make. Taft is going around telling the laborer we need it." "They raise wheat in South America. Now how is Mr. Taft going to regulate what they raise? Yet he has the audacity to state that he can regulate the quantity raised in countries that compete with the American farmer. Shame, shame."

"I want to tell the Republicans that are here, white and black, that their earnings go to the pockets of the favored few."

The speaker then pointed out how the Republican party made laws for the few in order to control the wealth of the country, and called on the voters to vote for Bryan, not merely because it was Bryan, but to show their manhood and show to the world they will assert their rights.

GOVERNORS TO MEET.

Gov. Patterson Calls On Neighboring Executives.

Frankfort, Oct. 24.—A conference of the governors of the tobacco and cotton growing states in which night riders have been operating, will probably be held shortly after the election for the purpose of co-ordinating measures to abate the evil which, starting in Kentucky and Tennessee, has apparently spread and found lodgment in many other states.

The suggestion that the conference be held came from Gov. Patterson of Tennessee and originated directly from the recent outrages at Reelfoot Lake, Tenn. Gov. Patterson in a published interview, suggested such a conference and his suggestion was brought to the attention of Governor Wilson to-day by a telegram from a New York newspaper. A call for the conference will probably be issued in a few days naming a date in November subsequent to the election. The governors of the following states and possibly others, will be asked to attend: Tennessee, Kentucky, Missouri, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.

Gilson's Little Girl.

By LULU JOHNSON.

Copyright 1908, by L. C. Parcells.

"My little girl," Gilson called her to himself, and of all in the human race that twice a day went through the gates of that section of the concourse devoted to the suburban traffic the gatekeeper liked best the little blue-eyed girl. She reminded him so strongly of that other little blue-eyed girl who in a happier day had greeted his coming and goings and had called him "father."

"That was before the tunnel wreck three years back, when they had carried her and her mother home—two victims of the worst disaster the road had ever known."

The claim agent had learned that Gilson was without work and had provided the damage claimed by settling him with a life position as gatekeeper on the big station. Ever since then Thomas Gilson had watched the tide of humanity ebb and flow through the glass pane and had found solace in the crowd.

Until the blue-eyed girl had come, not quite three months before, he had watched indifferently the burly men thrusting the heavy clicking of his punch kept time to the dull monotone of the announcer's megaphone voice. Then one night he glanced at the face of a girl so like his own dear daughter that his punch dropped from his nerveless hands, and he held them forth yearningly if unconsciously.

The ring of the metal on the concrete pavement roused him. His hands dropped to his side, and he took up his dull routine of inspecting tickets, but the gray train ahead, with its smoke stained walls and its wastes of cinder bed tracks, held a new interest for him.

The monthly ticket which she presented was brand new and proclaimed her a recruit to the army of workers who daily took their places in the city's commercial field, and he knew that each night he should see her come hurrying down the concourse toward the gate.

Later, when she learned that the regular commuters never displayed their tickets, she would present give him the little nod and smile of friendly recognition that the more experienced always vouchsafed the guardian of the gate. Gilson's memory for faces was remarkable. He knew all of the commuters by sight and had a nod for each.

It was not long before Gilson "got her train." She came in on the 8:27, and every night she hurried to catch the 6:45. Sometimes she was late and missed that train, having to wait for the 7:28 and thereby missing also her dinner.

She never went out for dinner when she missed the earlier train, but sat in the great marble waiting room. Gilson, quick to deduce, knew that the money she earned was so sorely needed at home that she could not spare the sum that would buy an extra meal to town.

The old gatekeeper did not go on duty until 9 o'clock in the morning, but he was always there now at 8:27, standing by the exit gate where the suburban trains came rolling in, and that was how he came to know that Metcalf was becoming interested in her.

Usually they came together down the platform, and only a glance at the girl's face was needed to tell that she asked Metcalf. Later on Metcalf took to going out on the 7:45 instead of the 8:27, which was an express and stopped only at the more important stations. No unbecoming mother ever watched the social progress of her daughter with greater solicitude than did Gilson watch the growth of love between Metcalf and Miss Traynor.

He had known Metcalf (he had learned the name on the commutation ticket) ever since he had come to the station. Metcalf seemed a nice, steady going young fellow, for he seldom waited over until the 10 o'clock train, and each morning his eye was clear and his hand steady. His appearance betokened his prosperity, and Gilson rejoiced that his little girl was making so good a match.

Then came the day when the little girl came down the platform by herself, her head held high and her cheeks flushing. Metcalf flushed in the rear, and he, too, was flushed and angry. Gilson's heart was troubled, though he tried to tell himself that all would be made smooth that night.

But it was not made smooth. Metcalf did not appear until just in time for the 7:03, and there were traces of tears on the little girl's face as she passed through the gate to take the 8:45.

Once during the week they both came in by the same train, but Metcalf was in the smoker and the little girl was in the last car.

She tried very hard to look as though she did not care, but Gilson's sharp eyes could see the change, and he worried so that he let a rusty old lady make the next recommodation in the belief that through the express, which fact was duly reported to head-quarters and resulted in Gilson's being forced to commute for a week to cover his fine.

Then came the night when the little girl, hurrying to catch her train, found the gate shut just as she approached.

"You are messy," she cried, with a stamp of her tiny foot. "I could have made it easy."

"Orders to close the gate on signal," Gilson replied.

move," she stormed, pointing to the tracks.

"I'm sorry," Gilson's voice was full of apparent concern—"orders are to close the gate on signal."

"I've gone through lots of times," she reminded him. "They don't start until the passengers are all on. Often I've just made it. You used to be obliging. Now I shall have to wait for the 7:58, more than an hour. I shall report you to the office."

"Duty," murmured Gilson, trying to look meek and regretful, for the new Metcalf passing through the swinging doors of the waiting room.

"I shall report you just the same," declared the little girl as she turned away to come face to face with Metcalf.

"Lost your train?" cried Metcalf. "That is a shame! The service on this road is a disgrace. There is not another train that stops at your station for over an hour."

"I am not in the habit of discussing my inconveniences with strangers," declared the little girl, with a toss of her head, as she moved away.

Metcalf followed, and as Gilson moved to the ticket office where the express was made up he smiled in satisfaction, for he had not heard Metcalf declare that, angry of no, she had come across the street for a cup of tea and a bite to eat?

The hour had nearly expired before they came into the concourse again, and Gilson's face fairly glowed as he caught the look of happiness in their eyes.

The train had been called, and the gate was open, but the little girl did not pass through.

"You did it on purpose," she accused snidely as she laid a gentle hand on Gilson's sleeve. "And to think that I three times a day should see her come hurrying down the concourse toward the gate."

"It's all right again, thanks to you," she whispered. "We will be married after Easter, and you must come to the wedding."

Blushing she hurried through the gate. Metcalf pressed the tell-tale hands as he followed after, and to Gilson, watching them go down the platform through the film of glad tears that veiled his eyes, it seemed that the clang of bells, the hiss and roar of escaping steam and the babel of cries resolved into one grand wedding march for "his little girl."

Oddities of Alcoholism.

Anecdotes of alcoholism were being narrated by a little group of physicians.

"One of my alcoholic patients stinks when drunk," said a Philadelphian. "You should see the trophies he brings home. His valet is continually sneaking off of moraines with great parcels—overcoats, umbrellas, silver spoons, clocks—that his master, treasuring in fear of arrest, has begged him to get rid of somehow."

"I have patients," said a New York specialist in dipsomania, "who in their intoxication steal only particular things. One man, an agnostic, steals Bibles. A common steals gloves. One steals a silver shoe baby things—little shoes and frocks, bottles and rattles, once even a perambulator."

"I had a case, an old lady," said a Kansas. "That I had worked over seven years—a hopeless case, it seemed. But she lost her money, and then they began to arrest her as a 'common drunk.' Well, after she had been arrested a dozen times or so to the magistrate she was tired of seeing her about and instructed the police to take her to the river whenever they found her drunk and give her a cold dip. By jove, that cured her. Two cold dips cured her. She has been sober now, my old patient, almost three years."—Bismarck Journal.

A World of Half Built People.

The world is full of half built people. If any one doubts this, let him or her visit a Turkish bath and note the number of people who are flat in the chest, round in the back, ponderous as to punch and heavy in the jaw—people with outstanding shoulder blades and flat feet.

Out of a thousand people in this country there could be found scarcely three who had really fine figures. I make this statement advisedly after many years of careful observation. And why is this so? Why are there so few people in this country, in the civilized world, who have bodies that are not a travesty of him in whose image they are supposed to be created?

The reasons are many, but may be grouped under two phases—unpleasant and unwholesome conditions of living. Among these conditions may be mentioned dietary errors—food that is excessive in quantity, variety or frequency as to mind and food taken under improper conditions either of mind or body.—W. R. C. Catson, M. D., in Outlook Magazine.

How to Get Poorer Quicker.

We hear a great deal about getting-rich-quick schemes, but if you want to get poor quick go into Wall Street without a level head or a lot of experience, play the races, take a flier in the schemes you see advertised, in mines and oils and real estate—not that they are all bad, but most of them are bad. Some time ago a New York man discharged a valuable employee because he played the races. When asked if he thought gambling wrong, he said:

"It isn't so much that, but I am convinced that a man who would make the loose, one sided contract required by a bookmaker is not competent to take care of his own interests or those

THE SECRET OUT.

To refute the many false and malicious attacks, bogus formulas and other untruthful statements published concerning Dr. Pierce's World-Famous Family Medicines, the Doctor has decided to publish all the ingredients entering into his "Favorite Prescription" for women and his equally popular tonic alterative known as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Hereafter every bottle of these medicines leaving the great Laboratory at Buffalo, N. Y., will bear upon it a full list of all the ingredients entering into the compound. Both are made entirely from native roots of far medicinal value. The ingredients of the "Golden Medical Discovery" being Golden Seal root, Queen's root, Stone root, Black Cherry bark, Mandrake root and Bloodroot. The "Favorite Prescription" is prepared in a similar manner from Blue Cohosh root, Lady's Slipper root, Unicorn root, Golden Seal root and Rattleweed root, those ingredients being macerated for a long time at a rather high temperature in a menstruum composed of chemically pure alcohol, of proper strength. The exact working formula for making these medicines can be had from the publisher, Dr. J. C. Pierce and his collaborating chemists and Pharmacists. After 25 years of study and experiment, but as perfected they produce almost perfect pharmaceutical compounds, curing all the active, medicinal preparations residing in the ingredients employed, and this, too, in such form and combination as to keep up change in every climate. Thus the use of alcohol is entirely avoided.

PROOF POSITIVE.

Without solicitation, Mrs. H. Harrison, of 222 West 4th Street, Sioux City, Iowa, wrote us as follows:

"I suffered for more than seven years with a very complicated form of female trouble accompanied with nervous prostration, and after consulting with six physicians all bearing excellent reputations, was informed that unless an operation was performed I would be an invalid all my life. Hearing of the wonderful cures effected by Dr. R. V. Pierce's remedies, and believing that there must be a cure for all my troubles, I determined to make one more effort. I wrote to Dr. Pierce, and he will never forget his kindly advice, telling me to follow his instructions carefully and not to submit to an operation. I commenced to improve after six weeks' treatment, and in five months my improvement was so noticeable to friends that they began to inquire about my condition of treatment. I was pleased to tell them of the wonderful cures that I had most fortunately found, and so many ladies applied to me for advice, and I sold them Dr. Pierce's world-famous medicines and his plans of treatment. I am now able to do for them the benefit of my experience, so, I told them cures effected by Dr. Pierce's remedies. Some used by my recommendation, seemed in one year's time nothing short of a miracle. I have never believed I had, I met the parties and known the facts."

Dr. Pierce's Good Temper is a medicine for the cure of all kinds of nervous and blood diseases. It is a powerful health, and good health is largely a matter of healthy activity of the bowels. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are safe, sure and speed, and one taken does not have to be taken always. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. They never gripe. By all druggists.

MACK MAKES ROSY CLAIM

Figures 301 Electoral Votes
For Bryan and Kern
In Louisville.

NEW YORK IS SURE.

Republican Slush Fund Will Not Defeat Will of the People.

"I figure at the present time Mr. Bryan will have at least three hundred and one electoral votes. I include in my estimate the following States:

Solid South.....	166
Idaho.....	3
Montana.....	3
Colorado.....	6
Nebraska.....	8
Nevada.....	3
Indiana.....	15
Ohio.....	23
Delaware.....	3
Kansas.....	10
New York.....	39
New Jersey.....	12
Connecticut.....	7
South Dakota.....	4
Total.....	301

New York, Oct. 26.—Chairman Mack authorized a statement Saturday in which he claimed the election of Mr. Bryan by a landslide. Mr. Mack announced that his reports showed that Mr. Bryan would receive at least 301 electoral votes, or fifty-nine more than is necessary for a choice. Mr. Mack's forecast of the election follows:

"The rumblings and thunder of the Bryan landslide in the West are already heard in the Eastern States, and today I can confidently predict the election of Mr. Bryan. That landslide in the West will extend to the shores of the Atlantic. It means the Democratic national ticket will carry every doubtful state in this section, and in rock-ribbed Republican districts the majorities of that party in recent years will be reduced to a minimum. Basing my forecast on the most conservative lines in view of the optimistic reports I have received from all sections of the country, I figure that Mr. Bryan will have at least 301 electoral votes, or fifty-nine more than is necessary for a choice. This comfortable majority will be increased rather than decreased when the vote is counted.

"In addition to the 105 votes of the solid South, and in this I include Maryland, I am confident that Mr. Bryan will carry New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Idaho, Montana, Colorado, Nebraska, Nevada, Indiana, Ohio, Delaware, Kansas and South Dakota, a total of 301 votes. All over the country there is a change of 25 to 50 per cent. from the Roosevelt vote of 1904 to Mr. Bryan.

NEW YORK NOT IN DOUBT.

"The result is no longer in doubt in New York. The 39 votes of the state are assured for Mr. Bryan. He will win by a substantial plurality. The Empire State can no longer be included in that territory called the 'enemy's country.' I speak from information gained from a thorough canvass and reports from every county in the state."

SEASON OPENS WED- NESDAY OCTOBER 28.

The opening number of the Tabernacle course will be the Rogers-Grilley Recital to-morrow night, Oct. 28. Many years of enthusiastic effort have enabled these gentlemen to produce a program for the amusement loving public that not only provides pleasure, but conforms to what is best in art. From the classic, with which Mr. Rogers opens the program, followed by a group of impersonations and original selections by Mr. Grilley, the listeners are carried through a series of art-

Veatchon Rogers, solo harpist, and Charles T. Grilley, a natural and unique entertainer, are indeed a combination that is hard to beat. The entertainment was within the scope of all, containing a vast variety of musical and literary renditions. Both members of the company were repeatedly encored. Mr. Rogers' imitations of different musical instruments were carried out truly and with pleasing effect. A melody of Southern plantation melodies was a delightful feature of his share of the evening's program. Charles T. Grilley was perhaps the favorite of the two, going from pathos to the ludicrous in a bound. He delivered several pathetic numbers with great feeling, an Italian selection entitled "Rosa," of his own composition, winning the greatest favor in this line. His representations of widely differing characters was masterfully carried out.

Soldiers Protecting Tobacco
Barns Near Frankfort.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 24.—Several tobacco barns in this section of the tobacco district are being guarded by soldiers, because of threats made by night riders and to protect tobacco crops. On the farm of a man named Holly, in Fayette county, militiamen have been on guard for some time. The expenses of the soldiers are being met by the farmers and not by the state. In Shelby county another barn is being guarded. Adj. Gen. Johnston said he did not apprehend any danger, but had been requested to send the soldiers as a precautionary measure.

MURDERER HANGED.

Negro Indirect Cause of Springfield Riots.

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 24.—Having confessed his guilt, and with a prayer upon his lips, Joe James, the eighteen-year-old negro murderer was hanged in the county jail today. James murdered C. A. Ballard, a well-known railroad engineer, on the night of July 3 last. This crime was largely responsible for the recent fatal race riot in this city. James came to Springfield from Birmingham, Ala., in June. On the night of July 3 he became intoxicated and wandered into the home of Mr. Ballard.

Entering the bed room of Miss Ballard he seized her hand. The girl screamed. Her father came to her assistance, drove the negro from the house, followed him to the sidewalk, where a fight ensued in which James stabbed Ballard to death.
